This national role will be based primarily at the Edinburgh Cancer Centre with the aim of realising the vision of improving equity of access and expectation towards oligometastatic treatment for patients across Scotland. The post will involve taking a lead on developing SABR for all organ sites suitable for SABR across the 5 centres, running oligometastases clinics, taking the lead on the COMET-3 and COMET-10 national clinical oligometastases trials, developing novel research projects. The role involves working with a teams of oncologists, physicists and radiographers across the 5 cancer centres in order to realise the vision. In addition, you will work with Research Nurses, Data Managers and Trials Administrators, and the R and D Team to recruit and manage trials patients to ensure the team meets the required quality standards and recruitment targets.

It is envisaged that the successful applicant will have completed or be part way through their FRCR (or equivalent) qualification. Support in studying for the FRCR (Clinical Oncology) will be given to appointees who need to complete their FRCR.

Section 3: Departmental and Directorate Information

1. Edinburgh Cancer Centre

The Edinburgh Cancer Centre (ECC), based at the Western General Hospital offers specialist treatment for all cancers within the framework of site-specific multidisciplinary teams incorporated within the South East Scotland Cancer Network (SCAN). SCAN consists of Lothian (Western General Hospital, Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh and St Johns in Livingston), Fife (Queen Margaret Hospital Dunfermline and Victoria Hospital Kirkcaldy), Borders (Borders General Hospital) and Dumfries (Dumfries and Galloway Royal Infirmary). There is close collaboration with the CRUK Edinburgh Cancer Research Centre, offering the potential for translational research and cross collaboration with specialist scientists. We actively participate in clinical trials across all cancer types, within specialist clinical trials teams who work within the framework of the South East Scotland Cancer Research Network (SCRN) and the Experimental Cancer Medicine Centre (ECMC). There is also close collaboration with Edinburgh University, the Edinburgh University medical school and the South East Scotland Faculty for Clinical Educators.

The ECC sees approximately 4500 new patients each year and is in the process of expansion to cater for expected increase in demand over the next 10-15 years. More than 4000 courses of radiotherapy are delivered each year, 75% with radical intent and 24000 attendances /annum for systemic anticancer therapy (SACT). There are 72 oncology beds including a 10 bedded bone-marrow transplant unit and an on-site hostel with facilities for 16 patients. There is a centre for teenage and young adult patients with cancer within the cancer centre.

Radiotherapy and brachytherapy services are based at ECC. The department offers a wide range of radiotherapy techniques such as 3D-CRT, virtual simulation, SABR for oligometastatic disease, IMRT (static field and RAPIDARC), intracranial stereotactic radiosurgery, I¹²⁵ seed prostate brachytherapy using ECLIPSE, HELIOS, IPLAN and BRACHYVISION treatment planning systems. There is a kilovoltage machine for skin treatments, an HDR brachytherapy suite and dedicated onsite facilities for preparation and administration of radionuclides. The department is networked with the Varian ARIA radiotherapy Information system and is fully integrated within the Scottish PACS system. There is access to CT-PET at the imaging centre at the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh.

The outpatient systemic anti-cancer therapy (SACT) suite sees approximately 24000 patient attendances per annum with on site SACT preparation. This unit is nurse led with associate specialists providing medical support. All SACT is prescribed on the Chemocare electronic prescribing system, the same used across all of Scotland, which facilitates access to chemotherapy data and linkage to other clinical records. SACT is also delivered in St John's hospital, Fife Victoria Hospital, Borders General Hospital and Dumfries and Galloway Royal Infirmary.

There are currently 24 consultant clinical oncologists including one chair; Professor Duncan McLaren, 17 medical oncologists, 5 consultants in palliative medicine and 1 consultant psychologist. In addition there are 5 academic medical oncologists (including two chairs; Professors David Cameron and Charlie Gourley), and 2 chairs of palliative medicine (Professor Marie Fallon and Professor Barry Laird)

All Lothian oncologists are based at the Western General Hospital and work within centralised teams, but many do peripheral clinics and manage SACT prescribing and oversight at the other hospitals within SCAN.

2. Research and Development

The ECC has an active research programme. The Scottish Cancer Research Network (SCRN) has now been active for 14 years. During that time recruitment to cancer trials has risen considerably with patients across Scotland now having the opportunity to enter a clinical trial in every tumour site diagnosed. The network is led and managed by Dr Stefan Symeonides and Ms Dorothy Boyle.

There has been a substantial increase in the level of translational work under taken and as a national network we are now fully embedded with our ECMC, CRUK, Academic and Commercial partners.

The South East Scotland Cancer Research Network (SESCRN) provides infrastructure and support for clinical trials, consenting more than 1000 patients into studies each year across Edinburgh and the South East of Scotland.

Expansion of clinical trials infrastructure, protected research time for clinicians, clinical trial participation and patient recruitment are absolutely central to the ECC strategy, as all are essential to providing optimum quality of modern cancer care, patient choice and financial viability of the service as a whole.

Who are we?

NHS Lothian is an integrated teaching NHS Board in Scotland providing primary, community, mental health and hospital services. Professor Caroline Hiscox is the Chief Executive, Professor John Connaghan CBE is the Chair and Tracey Gillies is the Executive Medical Director.

Over the next year across Scotland there will be significant changes in the way health and social care services are provided. In April 2015, integration came into effect in local areas led by four Health and Social Care Partnerships in East Lothian, Edinburgh, Midlothian and West Lothian. Working together will help us provide even better services for our communities and, where appropriate, people will receive high quality care closer to home. There is work underway in relation to the operational and governance capacity required, ensuring that planning for unscheduled and scheduled care is done in tandem between the four Integrated Joint Boards and the acute service.

Our vision, values and strategic aims

We strive to provide high quality, safe, effective and person centred healthcare, continually improving clinical outcomes for patients who use our services and for our population as a whole.

To achieve this, we are committed to ever-closer integrated working with patients and our other partners in healthcare and to embedding a culture of continuous improvement to ensure that:

- Our staff can contribute fully to achieving the best possible health and healthcare, based on evidence and best practice
- Everything we do maximises efficiency and delivers value for patients and the public

We have identified six strategic aims to ensure we can deliver safe, effective and person-centred health and social care:

1. Prioritise prevention, reduce inequalities and promote longer healthier lives for all
2. Put in place robust systems to deliver the best model of integrated care for our population – across primary, secondary and social care
3. Ensure that care is evidence-based, incorporates best practice and fosters innovation, and achieves seamless and sustainable care pathways for patients

4. Design our healthcare systems to reliably and efficiently deliver the right care at the right time in the most appropriate setting
5. Involve patients and carers as equal partners, enabling individuals to manage their own health and wellbeing and that of their families
6. Use the resources we have – skilled people, technology, buildings and equipment – efficiently and effectively.

The specific areas of focus and actions needed to achieve each of these aims are detailed in “Our Health, our Future: NHS Lothian Strategic Clinical Framework 2014 – 2024,” consultation document which you will find at:

<https://org.nhslothian.scot/Strategies/Pages/default.aspx>

Our Health, Our Care, Our Future

NHS Lothian works to help people live healthier, longer lives – no matter who they are or where in the region they live. Much progress has been made, but significant challenges and opportunities lie ahead. NHS Lothian draft strategic plan - Our Health, Our Care, Our Future – sets out what we propose to do over the coming decade to address these challenges and continue to provide a high quality, sustainable healthcare system for the people of Lothian.

In developing the strategic plan we have:

- asked staff and patients what and how things need to change to deliver our aims
- brought together local plans into an integrated whole
- identified opportunities to make better use of existing resources and facilities
- prioritised areas that will make most difference to patients

The plan outlines a range of proposals, which will allow us to:

- improve the quality of care
- improve the health of the population
- provide better value and financial sustainability

Over the coming months we will discuss the need for change and the proposals set out in the plan with staff, patients, communities and other stakeholders. A summary of the plan can be found at

<https://org.nhslothian.scot/Strategies/OurHealthOurCareOurFuture/Pages/default.aspx>

NHS Lothian’s Clinical Quality Approach – Quality Driving Improvement

This is a new way of approaching quality in NHS Lothian. With this approach to service improvement we aim to deliver ‘high quality, safe and person-centred care at the most affordable cost’. This acknowledges that every £1million of waste, unnecessary or inappropriate costs in one area of our system, denies us the opportunity to invest that £1million in another area of our system.

In all highly reliable healthcare organisations, it is clear that senior leadership commitment to the importance of the work, the introduction of consistent improvement methodology, the use of good quality data and building improvement capability within the workforce, are key to the successful delivery of improvement strategies.

<http://careers.nhslothian.scot.nhs.uk>

To allow NHS Lothian to meet the needs of our population today and in the future, we need to build on the good work that is already being done to redesign services and create a whole organisation approach to quality improvement.

NHS Lothian Values into Action

NHS Lothian is determined to improve the way their staff work so we have developed a set of common values and ways of working which we need to turn into everyday reality - to the benefit of everyone working in the organisation and, most importantly, to the benefit of people using our services.

Our Values are:

Quality

We continually look for ways to make what we do even better.

Dignity and Respect

People are communicated with in a way that they understand and staff check that the individual has understood the information given.

Care and Compassion

We take time to ensure each person feels listened to, secure, understood and is treated compassionately.

Openness, Honesty and Responsibility

We continually listen & learn from staff, people receiving care, carers and family.

Teamwork

We understand and value each other role and contribution.

Throughout the recruitment process candidates will need to demonstrate they meet all of Our Values. More information on Our Values can be found by clicking on the link at the bottom of our Careers website front page: <https://careers.nhslothian.scot/>

Equality and Human Rights Strategy 2023 – 2028

NHS Lothian wants to improve the health of everyone in Lothian so that everyone lives a longer, healthier life, with better experiences and outcomes including people who work for and with us. Our equality and human rights strategy supports us to put equality and human rights at the centre of everything we do so that we achieve these aims and meet our legal requirements. It sets out six strategic priorities – each on helping us understand and act on the experiences and needs of people who work for us and use our services. Our priorities are:

1. Equality and human rights are a central part of our planning, decision-making, delivery and reporting.
2. We are an anti-racist organisation, and our work helps to eliminate racism and remove racialised inequalities and prejudice.
3. We anticipate and meet the needs of disabled people so they can access services, employment opportunities and have better outcomes.
4. We are gender inclusive, we do not discriminate on grounds of sex or gender identity and our work helps to tackle persistent gender inequalities.
5. We support people who use our mental health services and people with dementia to know about and claim their rights, and to make decisions about their care and treatment.

6. We reap the benefits of equality and human rights education and training.

Anti-racism

As a healthcare provider and employer NHS Lothian has a duty to stop racism, inequality, and discrimination. We have acknowledged and apologised for NHS Lothian's historical connections with transatlantic slavery and the impact on all the people who suffered. We are implementing recommendations made by an Independent Advisory Group to ensure we learn from our past and build a better future for everyone. More information, including a short video, is available on the NHS Lothian website: <https://org.nhslothian.scot/aboutus/atlantic-slavery-and-the-royal-infirmary-of-edinburgh/>

We have launched our anti-racism campaign, 'We are NHS Lothian': <https://www.facebook.com/lothian.nhs/videos/927242979125104/> to encourage everyone to understand and acknowledge racism and take action to eliminate it. The campaign aims to drive forward the work NHS Lothian has started to achieve meaningful change in the diversity of its workforce and to embed a respectful, tolerant and inclusive culture for everyone.

Reasonable Adjustments

NHS Lothian strives to be an exemplary employer and an "employer of choice" by doing the following to support disabled staff:

- Creating a positive organisational culture where every individual employee is valued for the specific skills that they bring with them into the workplace;
- Enabling staff to feel empowered and to speak up when they require support;
- Helping staff to feel safe in sharing their personal information regarding their disability in order that the organisation can continue to improve support and awareness for the benefit of everyone;
- Creating a management culture where supporting disabled staff is delivered in a positive manner and based upon the desire to retain valuable skills within the organisation and not solely on any legal requirement to do so.

NHS Lothian recognises it has a duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled applicants and employees. NHS Lothian aims to ensure that it takes all reasonable steps to remove or adapt any provision, criterion or practice, or physical feature of premises that may put a disabled person at a disadvantage at any stage of employment. Wherever possible, we are committed to providing auxiliary aids and making sure information is provided in an accessible format to make sure disabled people are not put at a disadvantaged. Further information on the adjustments that may be made are outlined in our <https://careers.nhslothian.scot/wp-content/uploads/2024/03/Reasonable-Adjustments-Guidance.pdf>

It provides a framework within which to discuss the staff member's disability and what changes/adjustments can be made at work to assist them. Completion of the passport is voluntary, and it designed to be completed with reference to NHS Lothian's Reasonable Adjustment Guidance.

Workplace Equality Monitoring

In order to monitor the organisation's performance as an equal opportunity employer, NHS Lothian will request and retain data on the protected characteristics of its workforce. This data is processed and retained in line with the Data Protection Act 1998. The disclosure by applicants and staff of their protected characteristics is voluntary but this data is invaluable to NHS Lothian as it enables accurate review of progress and highlights any areas where NHS Lothian is failing to advance equality. The data is anonymised prior to analysis, review and reporting. It plays no part in making decisions about individual employees. Its function is to
